MARÍA GONZÁLEZ CALVET serves as co-chair of Ropes & Gray LLP's award-winning global anti-corruption and international risk practice and Latin America initiative, and is a former U.S. federal prosecutor and in-house executive counsel at a Fortune 500 company. With a practice that spans two decades, María is recognized for her significant experience in anti-corruption and other investigative matters in Asia, Africa, Latin America and Europe, and in every significant business sector. Recognized for her deep understanding and experience in the application of the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act and other anti-bribery statutes, María has worked with leaders in government, business and finance to conduct a wide variety of investigations and risk assessments. She has also represented companies, portfolio companies and individuals concerning multijurisdictional matters involving corruption, money laundering and other forms of financial fraud. She draws on her past work in government and the corporate sector to help clients across industries, including aerospace, health care and life sciences, energy, and private equity, among others.
