Ropes & Gray LLP

DOUGLAS BRAYLEY is a partner in the employment, executive compensation and employee benefits practice and leads the firm's employment litigation practice. Doug regularly represents employers in complex employment litigation matters, including wage and hour class actions, discrimination matters, whistleblower actions, disputes concerning restrictive covenants and trade secrets, and arbitrations and lawsuits brought by highly compensated senior executives. He has litigated before courts, arbitrators and administrative agencies. He has argued dispositive motions and appeals, and has served as trial counsel in both state and federal court. Additionally, Doug advises employers on a wide range of labor and employment matters, including non-compete and trade secret issues, workforce reorganizations, employee discipline and discharge issues, harassment and discrimination allegations, whistleblower allegations, employment agreements, and disability and leave issues. Doug also has experience representing employers in internal investigations, interviewing witnesses, assessing risks and negotiating resolutions.
