Ellen Davis is a Managing Director in the New York office. She advises corporate clients on a range of issues, including litigation and regulatory matters, government investigations, crisis communications, media relations and management changes. Ellen also advises individual clients on reputation management.

Ellen's current representations include an international hedge fund in connection with sexual harassment allegations and a board of directors addressing similar allegations against the company's CEO. She also handles communications related to an independent investigation into misconduct allegations at a public company and a private equity firm in connection with a Department of Justice investigation.

Since joining the firm, Ellen has represented both public companies in connection with government investigations and non-profit and educational institutions concerning reputational issues.

Prior to joining SVC, Ellen served as Counsel and Chief Public Information Officer for the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Southern District of New York. She was the spokesperson for the U.S. Attorney and the 230 attorneys who represent the federal government and its agencies in criminal and civil litigation in the Southern District.

Previously, Ellen was an award-winning Supervising Producer at ABC News in the Law & Justice Unit, where she worked for nearly a decade. In that capacity, she planned and oversaw the coverage of domestic and international legal stories for the Network.

Ellen also worked as an attorney at the law firm, Akin, Gump, Strauss, Hauer and Feld in Washington, D.C., and as an attorney in the U.S. Department of Justice/Office of Legislative Affairs and in the White House Counsel's Office.

Ellen holds a law degree from Georgetown University Law Center and a B.S. degree in communications from Boston University where she graduated summa cum laude.
