

UCB activates volunteerism and civic engagement in order to build a more resilient and successful community network.

We use a unique mobile loyalty rewards program to connect community members to hundreds of resources and spark their engagement.

Using this spark, our leaders activate community members to build relationships, network, and work on collective challenges.

These combined tools of efficient technology and place-based relational networking increases civic engagement, employment, and community resiliency.

“UCB helps me realize that I am making a difference in the community I reside. Our city is a hub of resources, thinkers, shakers, movers, innovators. People looking to make our communities better.”

“UCB is a good bridge that helps you come out from your home and reach the others around you.”

“UCB has invited me to create change, not just talk about it.”
