

MARY-ALICE MILLER

General Counsel

Acrivon Therapeutics, Inc.

MARY-ALICE MILLER is General Counsel of Acrivon Therapeutics, a NASDAQ-listed precision oncology therapeutics company. Mary has over 20 years of corporate legal experience, having served as a senior executive at several public companies. Previously, she was General Counsel of Butterfly Network, a digital health company that created a handheld, single-probe, whole-body ultrasound system using semiconductor technology. Prior to Butterfly, Mary served as the Chief Risk Officer and General Counsel of Columbia Care, one of the largest vertically integrated medical cannabis operators in the United States. Mary assisted with taking each of Acrivon, Butterfly and Columbia Care public. Mary also spent several years starting and scaling her own digital media company, which she sold to Purch Media in 2016. Mary spent the first 7 years of her legal career at the law firm Ropes & Gray. Mary was named one of Boston Business Journal's 2012 40 Under 40 and Mass High Tech's 2013 Women to Watch. She received her J.D. from Boston College Law School and B.A. from Boston College.