

Stacey Ganina, Vice President, is a platform strategist on the BlackRock Impact Investing team within the firm's Multi-Asset Strategies (MAS) group. Ms. Ganina works closely with the firm's global investment teams across equities, fixed income, and alternatives to develop scalable, innovative investment solutions that address investor's financial goals alongside their social or environmental objectives.

Prior to moving to her current role, Ms. Ganina was a member of BlackRock's Strategic Product Management Group focusing on new product development and strategy. Previously, she was a member of BlackRock's Portfolio Management Group helping drive strategic priorities across the firm's investment teams. She joined BlackRock as an analyst in the institutional client business, where she was responsible for sales and relationship management.

Ms. Ganina earned a BA degree in economics and international relations from Tufts University.